Congratulations! Your real financial education begins here . . .

S. Paul Horsley is an authorized Infinite Banking Practitioner through the Nelson Nash Institute and a licensed life insurance agent who specializes in the Infinite Banking Concept (IBC). Intrigued by IBC when facing a financial crisis upon losing his pension as a professional airline pilot, he still flies for one of the largest major airlines in the world.

In this, his first book, Horsley takes the reader through the journey of how he and his family discovered and implemented the simple IBC system. He reveals how the current monetary system works—and why it is set up for us not to be the winners.

After discovering the Infinite Banking Concept and having years of firsthand experience with it, he decided to share it with friends. Soon after the realization that the system was changing not only his own family's life, but also the financial destinies of those with whom he shared it, he took the necessary steps to learn everything possible and to share his knowledge with those looking for an alternative to the current chaotic money system.

In this book, Horsley's goal is to share exactly how the IBC system works and the necessary steps to implement it. The result? A quick read that's easy to understand.

He and his wife Michelle are the parents of three children and reside in Hudson, Wisconsin, near the Minneapolis-St. Paul metro area.
